

make the change will be your best friend and you will never forget the day that you made it. The decision will be the rock that underpins the rest of your life. You will never stray far from it. It will be like the first rung on the ladder of the most meaningful of lives. You can now start afresh, unburdened, with a clarity of mind and purpose, to willingly go and serve humanity now and to participate in the most important project the world has ever seen!

I can tell the difference in my attitude now—it's like chalk and cheese, where I can be doing some sort of task and I'm doing it willingly rather than doing it begrudgingly. It's like flicking a switch.

I really think too that the confusion I had felt before, towards the TRANSFORMED STATE was simply procrastination in disguise. I've always been an expert at procrastination and what makes it easier to procrastinate is when you are unable to look at the big picture. And the big picture now is the true magnificence of what we have in our hands, namely supporting the information that has solved the human condition.

This is a true win-win situation. Everyone wins! This is a thousand times bigger than my old collection of reinforcements, strategies and empty causes. Now I really just want to live it. To be a part of the conduit generation which will pass on the understandings—intact—to the next generation, leading to a race of humans who will be totally unresigned. the UNIVERSAL BEINGS who are just around the corner. There WILL BE Peace on Earth!

The band U2 has an older song called Acrobat and part of the lyrics say 'I'd join the movement, if there was one I could believe in...' Well, this is it! The WORLD TRANSFORMATION MOVEMENT!

Also, there is a more recent U2 song called Unknown Caller. Here's part of it and for me it sums up part of what the TRANSFORMED STATE is all about: 'Go, shout it out, rise up / Escape yourself, and gravity...Force quit and move to trash...Restart and re-boot yourself / You're free to go / Shout for joy if you get the chance.'

Thank you.

Section 3:18 Polly Watson (recorded December 2009)

I'm Polly, I'm 30 and I have been living in Sydney for about four years looking closer into the work of Jeremy Griffith and the Foundation for Humanity's Adulthood (FHA), now known as the WORLD TRANSFORMATION MOVEMENT (WTM). I have put this information to the test every day since knowing about it and it has proved to me over and over again that it is in fact the naked but dignifying truth about humans, and therefore about me, and that it will save our species if we let it. I have explored these ideas and discovered that what is explained does make sense of the crazy world we live in and there are no doubts in my mind that this is the key to the future and therefore I am dedicating my life to supporting it.

I know that nobody wants to admit or talk about our alienation: Why am I so insecure and fragile? Why am I selfish? Why am I so competitive? Why is everyone getting cancer? Why are children not being loved properly by their parents? Why are so many people dreadfully unhappy, depressed, suicidal and lonely? Up until these understandings I couldn't even begin to think about those questions because the answers were superficial—or not there at all. We are habituated to blocking out and denial, which has enabled us to survive, but that all ends now.

Because the human condition is the cause of all the pain on Earth, and the human condition exists in all of us, I am as capable as the next person to perform the most brutal atrocity on the planet if placed in the right circumstances; and I am as responsible as the next person to do what I can to fix that when a solution arrives. And now, thank God, the real solution has arrived. The answer to absolutely everything is here, not only the cure for our human condition, but the prevention of it for the future.

I know there are a lot of weird movements in the world claiming to be 'the one' and we all have a right to be sceptical of the huge claims being made about these understandings but I urge anyone new to this to just consider the possibility that it is true. You have a responsibility to question it and listen to what Jeremy explains about our denial. Consider what it means to go through Resignation (as is explained in Part 3:8 of Freedom: Expanded Book 1 and in A Species In Denial) and put the effort into putting these ideas to the test.

Before I looked into these understandings I wasn't walking around looking for answers. I had resigned myself to a life in denial and I had my simple life planned out in order to allow me to get on with that. But I could not abandon this information once I knew about it because I discovered that it was true and I know so strongly in my gut, more than anything else, that this is right. What I discovered when I looked into the explanation that Jeremy Griffith has written about was that for the first time in my life I could look honestly around the world and into myself and with these understandings I could now logically and rationally understand it all. This information is tangible, it's not dogma or belief—it's understanding, and that, I couldn't ignore. I understand the pain, I understand that every fibre of my being is etched with the result of two million years of the human condition in my heritage. I can accept that because I know why it has occurred, I can live in honesty about that predicament in myself and in the world and I can dedicate my time and energy to ensuring the rest of the world gets that opportunity. With the WTM as a vehicle for these understandings the pain and suffering can stop here and that will be a TRANSFORMED world.

If everyone on the planet can be secure in their alienation, be secure in their insecurity, be honest about our state then it will allow the preoccupation to subside enough to look beyond the needs of ourselves to the needs of the planet, and the world will instantly be a different place. That is what being a TRANSFORMED LIFEFORCE allows you to do. I can TRANSFORM my life from an insular, insecure, self-proving, pain-reproducing existence, to a LifeForce that can look around the world and live with knowledge about it, be secure in my alienation, let go the preoccupation with proving my self worth and put a stop to the pain. The second I realised that the future suddenly looked promising, the relief came flooding out of me and the potential for a bright future for the world became possible. And seeing that difference was what really confirmed for me how this understanding can actually save the world. That is the beauty of the WTM—not only do I get the gift of being able to understand myself and the world around me but I get the opportunity and the great privilege to participate in the solution to it all. And that is available to all humans now. How lucky are we?! I get to look pain and suffering in the eye and know that to contribute to putting an end to all of it, all I have to do is support this by living like it is true and participate in the fight for every human on the planet to have the opportunity to realise that potential. And that is the most wonderful gift any human could have, a beautifully free way to live. To live like that means that today is meaningful, and tomorrow is glorious.

So to finish I would just like to refer to Jeremy's proposition slide (see next image; these propositions are introduced in Part 2:5 of Freedom: Expanded Book 1) and tell you from my experience what these understandings will achieve:

1st Proposition—This understanding will TRANSFORM the world for its complete betterment [ticks the box].

2nd Proposition—That this understanding will bring complete hope to what can seem hopeless [ticks the box].

3rd Proposition—That this understanding does give rise to a movement that will sweep the world [ticks the box].

4th Proposition—That this understanding will introduce a new paradigm of understanding around which all knowledge can be integrated [ticks the box].

5th Proposition—That this understanding will reconcile all the opposites in the human situation [ticks the box].

That is my experience with this information and why I wouldn't want to be anywhere else other than right here as a very thankful and proud member of the WORLD TRANSFORMATION MOVEMENT!

So the proposition is that in the next few hours we are going to introduce an understanding that:

- will transform the world for its complete betterment
- will bring complete hope to what can seem hopeless
- gives rise to a movement that will sweep the world
- will introduce a new paradigm of understanding around which all knowledge can be integrated
- will reconcile all the opposites in the human situation

—good and evil	—the non-sexual and the sexual
—yin and yang	—young and old
—idealism and realism	—women and men
—instinct and intellect	—religion and science
—soul and mind	—spiritualism and materialism
—conscience and conscious	—left wing and right wing
—the innocent and the corrupted	—socialism and capitalism
—the natural and the artificial

So the proposition is that we will come back at the end of this talk and see if you feel that it is possible that each one of these boxes might indeed be able to be ticked!
